AMCA International Launches New Mobile App

Air Movement and Control Association (AMCA) International Inc. officially launches the AMCA Spec Check™ mobile app. The FREE app—available for iPhone and Android—is a handy link to information on AMCA certified products and all the services the association provides.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Illinois, May 11, 2018—Air Movement and Control Association (AMCA) International Inc., the international authority on air system components since 1917, announces that it is launching the AMCA Spec Check™ mobile app.

Designed for use by AMCA members, as well as specifying engineers, architects, contractors, and owners, AMCA Spec Check informs, speeds, and simplifies the process of determining and documenting air-system requirements to meet a customer's needs. Additionally, it assures the users that a product has been tested and rated in conformance with AMCA test standards and rating requirements.

This free app is available for iPhone and Android mobile operating systems from the Apple App Store and Google Play with automatic updates.

AMCA Spec Check provides fast and complete access to information and resources for the AMCA Certified Ratings Program (CRP) and quick, easy links to the AMCA International website.

The AMCA Spec Check mobile app allows you to:

- Match product types to certification types
- Provide guide-specification language for each certification offered through the CRP
- Identify seals, CRP publications, and test standards for each certification type
- Send guide-specification language and document references via email or text message
- Search the AMCA CRP database
- Search for AMCA members
- Download AMCA CRP white papers

For more information regarding the AMCA Spec Check™ mobile app, please contact Robb Clawson, AMCA Associate Director-Marketing & Communications, at rclawson@amca.org or at +1 (847) 704-6325.
